went from my office, was to put a handful of coppers in my pocket to give to the poor. Did I feed anybody there? Yes, scores. Did I help anybody to America? Yes, to the last farthing I possessed.
By keeping the office and doing business myself, I had money enough to come home; but brother Heber and brother Willard borrowed money and helped others. When we arrived home, were we flush with means? No; we were nearly destitute. I had a little clothing, and the most of that I gave away to poor brethren. I also had one sovereign, and, by obtaining fifteen cents more, was able to buy a barrel of flour. Brother Joseph asked me what I was going to do. I told him that I did not know, but intended to rest with my family and friends until we ate it up, and then I would be ready to walk in the way the Lord should open before me. Joseph would often ask me how I lived. I told him I did not know—that I did my best, and the Lord did the rest.

Do men get rich by this everlasting begging? No. Those who do it will be poor in spirit and in purse. If you desire to be rich, go and preach the Gospel with a liberal heart, and trust in God to sustain you. If you cannot by such a course come home with shoes, come with moccasins; and if you are obliged to come barefooted, tar the bottoms of your feet: the sand sticking in the tar will form a sole; and thank God that you have arrived here in that way rather than in carriages. But no; many of our Elders must come in carriages: they must have gold, and silver, and fine clothing to enable them to flirt around with their wives.

Let my wives take care of them-

Do men get rich by this everlasting ing? No. Those who do it will be poor in spirit and in purse. If you desire to be rich, go and preach the Gospel
with a liberal heart, and trust in God
to sustain you. If you cannot by such a course come home with shoes, come with
moccasins; and if you are obliged to come
barefooted, tar the bottoms of your feet:

Do men get rich by this everlasting
begging? No. Those who do it will be
poor in spirit and in purse. If you desire to be rich, go and preach the Gospel
with a liberal heart, and trust in God
to sustain you. If you cannot by such a course come home with shoes, come with
moccasins; and if you are obliged to come
barefooted, tar the bottoms of your feet:

Let my wives take care of them-

Do men get rich by this everlasting
begging? No. Those who do it will be
poor in spirit and in purse. If you desire to be rich, go and preach the Gospel
with a liberal heart, and trust in God
to sustain you. If you cannot by such a course come home with shoes, come with
moccasins; and if you are obliged to come
barefooted, tar the bottoms of your feet: